mail.com

Re: Right side

From: [redacted]
To: "Grandville Dental" [redacted]
Date: Aug 28, 2023 2:05:26 PM

Ok Im kinda confused on why the Dr. and [redacted] wanted to know about proceeding if the lab was still fabricating the new model.

> Sent: Monday, August 28, 2023 at 7:42 AM
> From: "Grandville Dental" [redacted]
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: Right side
>
> I sent the lab an email letting them know this was not the correct model. The lab was still fabricating the new model. The lab will send me new photos when she gets everything on the articulator.
>
> Melissa
>
> On Fri, Aug 25, 2023 at 1:08 PM [redacted] wrote:
> > Attached is a photo of my teeth length on the right side which looks different, I think its possible that the lab is working with the wrong dental model.
> >
> > If the lab needs me to go there, that wouldn't be a problem.
> >
> > > Sent: Friday, August 25, 2023 at 12:38 PM
> > > From: "Grandville Dental" [redacted]
> > > To: [redacted]
> > > Subject: Right side
> > >
> > > [redacted],
> > > I called [redacted] and spoke with her about what we had talked about, NOT reducing any further on #5 the upper right tooth. What Dr. and [redacted] are suggesting is to reduce a little more from #5 to be able to bring #28 up. This is the area you were concerned about stepping down. Sending a photo from the lab on the articulator to help with the visual. Could you confirm this so we can proceed at the lab.
> > >
> > > [redacted]/ Dr. Vander Baan
> > >
> > > --
> > > Grandville Dental Health Center
> > > 4050 Del Mar Drive, SW Suite B
> > > Grandville, MI 49418
> > > P.| 616-531-0360
> > > F.| 616-531-2810